

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Let's review!

Learning Outcome

Describe unusual events through a wider range of B1 language in both work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Do you know anyone who is young-at-heart? Who are they and how do they behave?
- In your opinion, what does it mean to be "old"?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about my attitudes toward an action.
- I can talk about things I am supposed to do and things that are supposed to happen.
- I can talk about what was happening when something else happened.

Let's Explore!

Let's read a story about Anna Plenko - a young at heart athlete.

* To be "young at heart" means to think and act in a youthful way.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

"It's never too late to want to make a change," says 95-year-old track star Anna Plenko. Anna took up running at the age of 80. "I chose to be a young-at-heart athlete instead of an old woman," she says.

What is the secret to her longevity? Plenko says it is not only her strict exercise regimen and healthy daily food intake but also her positive outlook on life that accounts for her clean bill of health.

"In my view, people are supposed to challenge themselves every day," she says. "You are not supposed to focus on the negative - only what you can do and how you can do it. There is no point in becoming downtrodden - use the negatives as an impetus for making a change.

My husband was diagnosed with cancer. While I was taking care of him, I took a long look at myself and what I could do to live life to the fullest. My husband had a lot of time to help me turn my life around while he was receiving treatment. His optimism is what prompted me to look ahead, not at the past."

"It's not how old you are. It's how you get old. That's my motto," says Plenko.

Let's Practice!

Anna Plenko shows that age is not an impediment to challenging your limits.

Instructions: Read the text again. Select all the correct answers.

1. Which of these ideas are true about Anna Plenko?
 - Plenko decided to be an athlete, not an old woman.
 - She took up running at the age of 95.
 - If you think you're not able to do something challenging, Plenko is not a good example.
 - She took up running at the age of 80.
 - If you think you're not able to do something challenging, Plenko is a good example.

*An "impediment" is a barrier or obstacle to do something.

Let's Practice!

Sally is supposed to check the right words to use when she writes her blog!

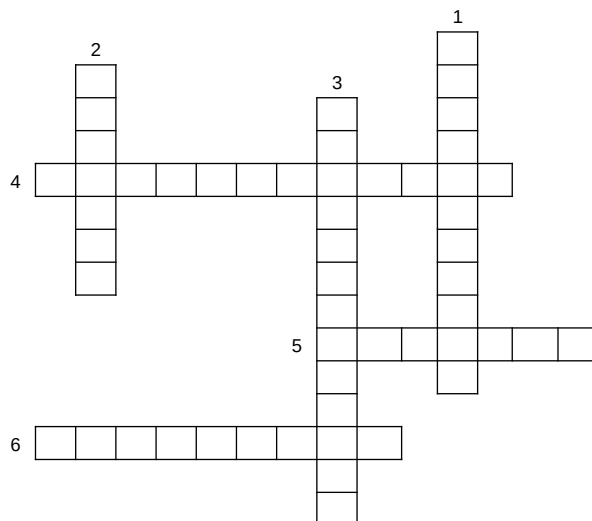

Instructions: Complete the crossword. First, read the clue. Then, write your answer.

DOWN

1. When you feel d_____, you are in a state with low energy.
2. You're supposed to follow a r_____ to keep your health in good condition.
3. Your d_____ is supposed to show what you eat in a regular day.

ACROSS

4. Your doctor is supposed to give you a b____ after a medical appointment.
5. You're supposed to have an i_____ to move into action.
6. When you live a long life, you're supposed to have l_____.

Extension Activity

Talk about how you would like to be when you are "old".

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Think about yourself as an "old" person. What do you see yourself doing?
- Discuss the idea of being young-at-heart with your partner. What are ways to achieve this attitude?

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I think about and imagine myself as a "old" person.

☐ ☐

I talk about staying healthy and how I am supposed to stay young-at-heart.

☐ ☐

I discuss ideas with a partner.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- athlete (noun): a person with high skills in physical agility and strength
e.g. I chose to be a young-at-heart athlete.
- longevity (noun): the great duration of life
e.g. What is the secret to Plenko's longevity?
- regimen (noun): eating and exercising habits to preserve a person's health e.g. Plenko's exercise regimen is strict.
- daily food intake (noun): the amount of energy from food consumed in one day e.g. Her dietary intake is really healthy.
- bill of health (noun): an account of physical health that a doctor usually gives e.g. Anna Plenko has a clean bill of health.
- downtrodden (adjective): oppressed; with low energy
e.g. There is no point in becoming downtrodden.
- impetus (noun): impulse; a force that moves one into action
e.g. You need an impetus for making a change.

Learning Points

The Past Continuous Tense and the Simple Past Tense

You use the Past Continuous tense to talk about an action that was happening at a time before now.

You use the Simple Past to talk about a finished past action.

You can use the Past Continuous to:

- Describe the atmosphere at a particular time in the past.

For example:

The children were laughing and the birds were singing in the park. A woman was looking for her phone, which she dropped somewhere ...

- Describe an action that was interrupted by another event or action".

For example:

I was looking through my photos on Facebook when I became disgusted with my appearance.*

The form of the Past Continuous is:

Subject + was/were + verb -ing

You use the Simple Past to talk about a shorter action or event that happened in the middle of, or interrupted, the longer action.

While I was checking my e-mail, I saw a note from a devoted reader.

Examples:

- While I was checking my e-mail, I saw a note from a devoted reader.
- I was looking through my photos on Facebook when I became disgusted with my appearance.

Learning Points

Gerunds and Infinitives

A gerund is a verb ending with -ing. Examples: running, breathing, jumping, playing.

An infinitive is when a verb is preceded by the word to. Examples: to run, to breath, to jump, to play.

There are rules about which verbs are followed by gerunds and which verbs are followed by infinitives.

Verbs that are followed by a gerund:

- anticipate
- suggest
- delay
- complete
- involve

You also use gerunds after prepositions, for example:

Anna took up running at the age of 80.

These are some verbs that are followed by an infinitive:

- choose
- aim
- expect
- decide
- help
- happen

Example:

"I chose to be a young-at-heart athlete instead of an old woman", she says.

You use Infinitives after adjectives.

Example:

It's never too late to want to make a change.

Examples:

- There is no point in becoming downtrodden - use the negatives as an impetus for making a change.
- His optimism is what prompted me to look ahead, not at the past.
- "I chose to be a young-at-heart athlete instead of an old woman", she says.

