

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Help! I can't sleep!

Learning Outcome

Describe unusual events through a wider range of B1 language in both work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- When you can't sleep, what do you do?
- Do you think what you eat affects how you sleep? In what way?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about food, drink, and staying healthy.
- I can talk about things I am supposed to do and things that are supposed to happen.
- I can talk about my attitudes toward an action.

Let's Explore!

Do you keep a regular eating schedule*? How can this affect your sleep habits?

* You use the verb "to keep" with the word "schedule". It means follow a routine.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

All of us complain about not being able to sleep sometimes. However, if you're the kind of person who finds himself staring at the ceiling until late into the night, experts suggest looking at your diet.

Research has shown that what people eat during the day, and when they eat, can be connected to how well they sleep at night. For instance, if you eat a big meal an hour or two before going to bed, you probably won't sleep well, or it may take you longer to fall asleep. If your meal is spicier or more fatty than usual, the chances of not sleeping are even greater. Sleep specialists say you are supposed to eat supper early. Then if you feel hungry later on in the evening, you are supposed to have something light, like a cereal or crackers. Another reason that people don't sleep is because they don't eat enough. If you're on a diet, you may have trouble going to sleep. When you go to sleep hungry, your brain tells you to stay awake so that you can look for food. It is a natural survival instinct. Experts suggest that if you have trouble sleeping, it's best to try having a light snack before going to bed. In addition, you are supposed to keep a regular eating schedule during the day. If you grab food without eating regular meals, expect to have trouble sleeping.

Let's Practice!

Sally is concerned about people's sleeping habits.

Instructions: Proofread the sentences. Circle the incorrect word. Write the correct word above to complete the sentence. Use capital letters where necessary.

1. Your diet and meal times are supposed to be conected to your sleping habits.
2. Spicy and faty dinners are supposed to afect your ability to sleep early.
3. If you feel hungary at night, you are supposed to eat a like snack.
4. If you are hungry at niht, you are supposed to have troble to sleep.
5. Keeping your meal times regular to avoit trouble sleeping.

Let's Practice!

Have you ever had trouble sleeping? Sally gives some hints in her blog!

Instructions: Organize the mystery sentence.

1. suggest / when / trouble / looking / at / Experts / your / diet / you / have / sleeping / .
2. you / eat / If / a / meal / at / night, / you / big / may / to / fall / take / asleep / . / longer
3. specialists / you / Sleep / are / to / eat / supper / supposed / early / . / say
4. a / if / sleeping / . / trouble / snack / Try / light / have / you
5. are / keep / a / eating / schedule / . / supposed / regular / to / You

Extension Activity

Keep a food journal for a week.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- To see the affect of what you eat on how you sleep, keep a food journal for a week.
- Every night, write down in English what you eat for dinner/supper/snack.
- In the morning, write down notes about how you slept.
- At the end of the week, share your results with a partner.

Self-Assessment

Yes No

I keep a food journal for a week.

☐ ☐

I keep track of what I eat and how I sleep.

☐ ☐

I share the results with my partner.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- specialist (noun): an expert in a specific area
e.g. Sleep specialists say you are supposed to eat supper early.
- ceiling (noun): the surface above your head in a room
e.g. You stare at the ceiling until late at night.
- light (adjective): easy to digest
e.g. You are supposed to have something light.
- cracker (noun): thin, salty food, made of flour and other ingredients
e.g. Cereal or crackers are a light snack.
- survival instinct (noun): the natural impulse to take care of your own life
e.g. Staying awake when you're hungry is a natural survival instinct.
- snack (noun): a small portion of food that you eat between meals
e.g. If you feel hungry at night, you are supposed to eat a light snack.

Learning Points

Be Supposed To

You use the structure be supposed to when you want to talk about expectations, obligations or arrangements.

You can use be supposed to to talk about situations in the past, present or future.

The structure is:

Subject + To be + supposed to + verb

Sleep specialists say you are supposed to eat supper early.

*Pronunciation tip:

When you say be supposed to, you link the /d/ and /t/ sounds together.

Like this: Be suppose_to

Examples:

- Then if you feel hungry later on in the evening, you are supposed to have something light, like a cereal or crackers.
- In addition, you are supposed to keep a regular eating schedule during the day.
- Sleep specialists say you are supposed to eat supper early.

Gerunds and Infinitives

A gerund is a verb ending with -ing. Examples: writing, laughing, cleaning, sleeping.

An infinitive is when a verb is preceded by the word to. Examples: to write, to laugh, to clean, to sleep.

Verbs commonly followed by a gerund:

Verbs that express likes/dislikes:

- like
- love
- enjoy
- dislike
- hate

Example:

Tom disliked eating plain yogurt.

Learning Points

like/love/hate can also be followed by an infinitive.

Some other verbs that are followed by a gerund:

- anticipate
- suggest
- delay
- complete
- involve
- keep
- risk

You use a gerund after some expressions:

- Have trouble ...
- I don't mind ...
- It's no use ...

You also use gerunds after prepositions, for example:

Before going to sleep ...

These are some verbs that are followed by an infinitive:

- hope
- aim
- expect
- decide
- help
- happen

Example:

You should aim to eat yogurt every day.

You use Infinitives after adjectives.

Example:

It may take you longer to fall asleep.

